Goals & Philosophy

THE PIPE ORGAN is a fascinating object. The most basic materials of wood, leather, and metal are harnessed together in an instrument that allows the musician to weave together inspiring music for meditation or to provide a definitive lead for congregational singing. Parkey OrganBuilders is focused on creating pipe organs that can meet your needs, whether we are building small organs for practice rooms or choral rehearsal spaces or large organs for cathedrals. Our staff has the knowledge and practical experience to exceed your expectations.

OUR COMPANY SPECIALIZES in both mechanical and electro-pneumatic actions. Design and construction is carried out using modern day practices such as Computer Aided Design (CAD) and Computer Numerically Controlled (CNC) machines while still ascribing to old world traditions that have guided successful organbuilders for centuries.

History

PARKEY ORGANBUILDERS is proud to be one of the youngest highly qualified member firms to join APOBA. In 2003, we moved into our current 15,000 square foot climate-controlled facility in the metro Atlanta area. The company was founded to provide service and maintenance to clients throughout the southeast. Since 1987, Mr. Parkey has gained his experience by studying with some of the most knowledgeable individuals across the US and Europe. In the intervening years, he has worked diligently to assemble a team of artisans and musicians, helping to make Parkey OrganBuilders the company that it is today.

Commitment

WE TAKE GREAT PRIDE in the way that we work with each client and project individually so that we can carefully craft the organ to meet your expectations and fulfill your needs. Our organs are built one at a time, not assembly style; there are no standard organs with predetermined stoplists. Each organ is scaled, built, and voiced to fit perfectly within its space and deliver exactly the sound that your situation requires.

FROM TIME TO TIME, we are asked to handle renovations and restorations. These can be as artistically challenging as new instruments, but we delight in such challenges. For our clients in the area, we continue the commitment with personalized service and maintenance after the installation and voicing are complete.
